

PRINT WORK

Throughout my design career I have learned much about the printing process and print products. I have enjoyed learning the ins and outs of how a digital design translates to the printed page.

I have set copy, designed layouts, prepared artwork to be print-ready, and have checked products at the printing press.

Brochure project showcasing Mainline Printing's unique offerings for breweries.

Mail marketing piece for University of Kansas. This included a brochure and perforated tear-off pledge cards.

A national client hired my local design firm to design an entire magazine, layout individual articles, and overlook the printing process.
